GK Column

My Brother Knights,

First of all let me wish you and your families a holy and merry Christmas. It is hard to believe that almost six months of our fraternal year has passed.

I want to thank all you who have helped with the Christmas Tree Sales, setting the coral and shed up, unloading the trees, spending so many hours selling trees, and taking down the booth and cleanup. This type of effort can only be accomplished through the donation of your time and talent.

A very special thanks to both Mike Dromgoole and Don Morin for putting it all together and making it work so well. I know it was a successful effort, but I don't have the numbers to share with you at thiWith the New Year ringing in, our efforts on another major fundraiser will start to take shape; more information will be coming soon.

Vivat Jesus,

Marty Bove, GK

time.

The support of 6 - 8 brother Knights is sought to facilitate this effort. If you're available please lend a hand for a couple of hours. We need tools such as power screwdrivers, nail pullers along with as many trucks and trailers as possible.

If available, please respond to this email or contact Mike Dromgoole at 434-2515 indicating your availability.

Dismantling and removal of the K of C Christmas tree coral will occur this Sunday afternoon starting at 1:00 PM. The booth will also be disassembled if all or most all the trees have been sold by that

One day the school principal was talking to Little Johnny's teacher about his behavior, when all of a sudden Johnny comes running down the hallway. The principal stops Johnny and asks him, why are you running? Little Johnny says, I'm keeping two kids from fighting, sir. Who? ask the principal. Me and the kid chasing me; and off he went.

"I already have insurance at work."

Many jobs offer some form of group life insurance. Often, this insurance is an employee benefit provided at no charge, or for a small co-pay. Knowing that this coverage exists may convince someone that he doesn't need to discuss personally owned life insurance with a professional agent. That would be a mistake.

Most forms of group life insurance are limited in amount. That amount may be tied to salary or some other benchmark, but often there is a cap. That cap may be dangerously low for your family's needs should you die. In fact, in the absence of a detailed needs analysis (which I'll be happy to provide, free of charge), any employer-provided coverage may be completely unrelated to needs at death. In addition, the amount of group insurance offered is almost always reduced – and sometimes dramatically – when you retire.

Especially today, there is the very real possibility that you could change employers or lose your job. Or that your benefits could be reduced. In either case you could – one day - find yourself without coverage. If your health has changed in the meantime, you might also find yourself unable to secure individual protection.

While group life helps, it does not replace the need for individually owned life insurance. I'll be happy to meet with you and provide a free, custom-tailored needs analysis, so that you'll know exactly where you stand.

Two buddies are fishing, but they haven't caught anything all day. Then, another fisherman walks by with a huge load of fish. They ask him "excuse me, but where did you get all those fish?" The other fisherman replies, "If you just go down the stream until the water isn't salty, there are a ton of hungry fish." They thank him and go on their way. 15 minutes later, one fisherman says to the other "fill the bucket up with water and see if the water is salty." He dips the bucket in the stream and drinks some. "Nope. Still salty." 30 minutes later, he asks him to check again. "Nope, still salty." One our later they check again. "Nope. Still salty." "This isn't good," the fisherman finally says. "We have been walking for almost two hours and the water is still salty!" "I know," says the other. "And the bucket is almost empty!"
